COURSE OUTLINE

Course Number: THR207
Course Title: Scene Study I
Credits: 3

Hours:
3 Lecture

Pre-requisite:
Implementation: Fall 2015

Catalog description: Combines literary and theatrical skills. Students analyze scenes from plays, screenplays, and non-dramatic literature to discover how theatre artists use character, setting, circumstance, and dialogue when transforming text into performance. The interaction of writers, actors, and directors in developing and presenting scenes in performance is also observed. The class concludes with a public performance.

Is course New, Revised, or Modified? Modified

Required texts/other materials:
The Actor's Script: Script Analysis for Performers by Charles Waxberg, Heinemann Drama Paperback
Ghosts by H. Ibsen

Evaluation of student learning:
1. Attendance and Participation. Through in-class exercises students learn to appreciate and build heightened physical and vocal abilities for the stage. This course relies heavily on its laboratory component as a tool for instruction. The majority of its content is available only through class attendance, participation, interaction and application of principles.
2. Improvisation Questionnaires. Following each improvisation, students must fill in neatly and completely the improvisation questionnaire, which the instructor will hand out. In the questionnaire students will analyze and assess how successful the exercise was. It is an opportunity for students to look at their work objectively and determine which choices were successful and which choices could have been stronger.
3. Reaction Papers. Students are required to see two live PROFESSIONAL performances and write a reaction paper for each that analyzes the ACTING in the show incorporating concepts discussed in class.
4. Life Observation. Students prepare a 2-3 page typed paper describing an observation of a moment in their lives when they consciously did something to get a reaction out of someone else.
5. Character Biography. Helps students identify and describe the “world” of a play and the points of views of various characters, their “wants,” and the stakes in achieving or not achieving them.
6. Final Project. Students will perform the material they have worked on in class for an audience. The audience is the final element in the study of the fundamentals of acting. Through this culminating event students experience the full impact of a theatrical experience and how all the objectives of the class have prepared them for this event. Students will develop their ability to create and communicate through personal artistic/aesthetic expression and develop a fundamental understanding of teamwork, communication and ensemble as they complete this exercise.

Academic Integrity Statement: Students are expected to comply with the college-wide requirements for academic integrity. Mercer County Community College is committed to Academic Integrity—the honest, fair, and continuing pursuit of knowledge, free from fraud or deception. This implies that students are expected to be responsible for their own work. Presenting another individual’s work as one’s own and receiving excessive help from another individual will qualify as a violation of Academic Integrity. The entire policy on Academic Integrity is located in the Student handbook and is found on the college website (http://www.mccc.edu/admissions_policies_integrity.shtml).
