

Your Stories

A student anthology of personal essays

WHO WE ARE

Your Stories is a collection of personal pieces of creative nonfiction written by MCCC students. Each entry stands as a challenge to the inevitable prejudice that writer Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie describes in her famous TED Talk, "The Danger of a Single Story." Our writers offer these snapshots of their unique selves to contradict the stereotypes, and contest the single story.

TWO GOALS

SEE

Offer an accessible opportunity to expand our perspectives of lifestyles and cultures with which we are unfamiliar.

BE SEEN

Offer a stage and spotlight to those who may feel unseen, eclipsed by an idea of who they are based on stereotypical "stories" that perpetuate prejudice.

OUR ASK

Share our message

Please, share our magazine with those who may recognize themselves reflected on our pages, and with those whose eyes may be opened to new images and new ideas.

READ

SHARE

Find us online at

<https://yourstorieslitmag.tumblr.com/>

For more info, contact amelia.deguzman@students.mccc.edu