

MERCER COUNTY COMMUNITY COLLEGE

59th Commencement

THURSDAY, MAY 14, 2026
CURE INSURANCE ARENA
TRENTON, NJ

“We are the good news that we have been looking for,

Demonstrating that every dusk holds a dawn disguised within it.

Today we don’t burst into a new world.

We begin it.”

Amanda Gorman, 2020

Academic Tradition

The wearing of academic regalia (robes, hoods, and caps) began in Europe in the Middle Ages, not as a symbol of achievement, but as a strategy to stay warm in the drafty halls of 13th century universities. When the practice crossed the Atlantic to become a tradition at early American colleges and universities, students wore academic attire as a kind of uniform that differentiated them from the permanent residents of the town.

In 1894, The American Intercollegiate Commission standardized the robe and accessories, which by this point in history were worn almost exclusively for commencement ceremonies and other significant college events.

According to tradition, undergraduates earning an associate or bachelor's degree wear a black gown with long, full sleeves and a black mortarboard cap with matching tassel. In some cases, they wear hoods or stoles representing the college or university's official colors.

Master's degree candidates wear black gowns with distinctive sleeves, a mortarboard cap, and a hood that is lined with the color or colors of the institution conferring the degree. The Master's hood is trimmed in velvet in the distinctive color of the graduate's academic field of study.

Brown – architecture and fine arts
Light Brown – business
Light Blue – education
White – liberal arts
Yellow – science
Pink – music
Royal Blue – Philosophy (all Ph.D. degrees)

Doctoral regalia is distinguished by long velvet panels adorning the front of a full, black gown and three velvet bars on the bell-shaped sleeves. The gown is trimmed in either black or royal blue, the traditional color of the doctor of philosophy degree, regardless of the disciplinary specialty. The hood is trimmed in a matching velvet and lined in satin in the colors of the institution conferring the degree. The cap for a doctoral ensemble is often made of velvet and may be a mortarboard or a four-, six-, or eight-cornered tam with gold tassel.

Beginning in the 1960s, some colleges and universities departed from the traditional black and adopted gowns in the institution's official colors, though most still adhere to the traditions governing hoods, mortarboards, and tams. Gold and green are the colors of Mercer County Community College. The gold is taken from the flags of both New Jersey and Mercer County; the green is symbolic of Mercer's oak and verdant fields. Together, they symbolize the limitless opportunities education provides.

President's Letter

Dear MCCC Graduating Class of 2026,

It is my great pleasure to congratulate all of you on your well-deserved success!

In 2020, America's first Youth Poet Laureate, Amanda Gorman, celebrated her college graduation with these lines: "We are the good news that we have been looking for, / Demonstrating that every dusk holds a dawn disguised within it. / Today we don't burst into a new world. / We begin it." These words are a compelling message for our graduates, reminding you that your perseverance and success have made you powerful and that your education at MCCC unlocks your potential to make the world a better place.

As President of Mercer County Community College, I cherish this opportunity to acknowledge your collective success. This day represents a personal achievement for each of you, but not the same milestone for everyone. Those of you who are the first in your family to graduate with a college degree or credential are celebrating a milestone not only for yourselves, but also for your loved ones. Those of you who plan to transfer to another institution to pursue an additional degree should think of this day as the first step in a series of celebrations along your academic pathway. And those of you who are moving directly into a job in your field will experience the workforce as a graduate for the first time. Whatever your goals for tomorrow and beyond, the entire Mercer community is happy for all of you and proud of your accomplishments. We will always be here rooting for you!

With that, I want to thank you for the privilege of sharing this special day with you and your guests. I wish you continued triumph in all that you pursue. Now go out there and "begin it"!

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Deborah E. Preston".

Deborah E. Preston, Ph.D.
