First "In-Person" CGC Training Session Is a Hit With MCCC Staff

Mercer County Community College staff members were brimming with anticipation in Conference Center Room MC 217 on Friday, October 28 as they attended the first in-person College Governance Committee (CGC) Technology learning session since 2019.

"This was the first in-person technology training live on campus since before the pandemic," said Jill Marcus, member of the CGC Professional Development Committee and program manager for Innovative Learning Solutions at MCCC. "Rob Monegro and Rob Obermeier were fantastic instructors and covered a lot of material in this short session," she said. "Everyone in the class had fun and walked away knowing much more about Excel than when they walked in."

Robert Monegro, director of ITS Customer Service Operations, and Robert Obermeier from Mercer Online hosted "Microsoft Excel for Beginners." The session introduced eager learners to the basic functions of Excel along with some nifty tips and tricks. Attendees included staff from both JKC and West Windsor campuses.

The next session will be on November 16 from 1-2:30 p.m. and will focus on Microsoft Outlook and One Drive. Sign-up here.
